Item # 1 - A Day in the Jemez (for those spending a little extra time in New Mexico)
See the stunning, history-filled Jemez Mountains on an informative tour like no other. Local mountain dwellers and amateur historians Alex Rose (the son of donor ALJ Felicia Orth) and April Brown will lead you on a customizable trip into the Jemez filled with adventure. Your day trip departs from Los Alamos, traveling through the Valles Caldera on NM 4 on to La Cueva where you will begin your experience on the dirt and gravel roads of yesteryear. Various stops along the way allow you to see little known historical sites, fossil beds and the amazing red rocks of Jemez Springs. Bring a suit if you'd like to soak in the hot springs. Traveling back through Gillman Tunnels, we will stop for lunch at Jemez Spring's oldest bar and grill, Los Ojos, before a small walking tour in town. Estimated time for round trip from Los Alamos is 5 hours (from Santa Fe, 7 hours).
Donated by Hon. Felicia Orth of New Mexico. (Estimated Retail Value priceless!)

Item # 9 - Katz's Salami

During World War II, this famous old Manhattan Lower East Side (East Houston Street) deli promoted the sending of care packages overseas with the slogan: "Send a salami to your boy in the army!" If said with a New York accent, it rhymes!! You can still send a salami to Americans serving overseas, or you can enjoy this beef salami yourself.

Donated by Hon. Christopher Stephens of New York. (Estimated Retail Value $25)

Item # 10 - Rare Templeton Rye Whiskey from Iowa

Templeton Rye is "a small batch rye whiskey with deep prohibition era roots in a small town in western Iowa, reputed to have been Al Capone's whiskey of choice, who reportedly even had it delivered to him when he was in Alcatraz. It is extremely difficult to find outside of Iowa, and also currently very difficult to find even in Iowa – most retailers have long waiting lists. In June 2008 Templeton Rye was named Best Overall Whiskey out of more than 4,000 entries at the Los Angeles Wine and Spirits Competition, and won a gold medal in March 2009 at the San Francisco World Spirits Tasting. It was also named the "Best Whiskey under 10 Years Old" by Whiskey Bible. One reviewer characterizes it as having "a nose that introduces a combination of rye married with caramel . . . that first sip brings tones of sweet honey, followed by caramel and ending with minor tinge of spice on the tongue." Another reviewer said, "Templeton is less overtly spicy than many ryes, and I found it to have more of a Canadian whisky character to it . . . The flavor profile is overwhelming, and in a good way. Starting with honeycomb and toffee, it soon reveals notes of buttermilk biscuits, shortbread, and even gingersnaps. Extremely easygoing, there's virtually no heat on the finish at all . . . A bit of dark chocolate plays on the finish, too. . . This is possibly the best rye I've ever sampled." One final review, "the unique whiskey presents a rye spiciness and almost bittersweet taste that is found in the rye grain, along with notes of dried fruit, toffee, caramel, and allspice. Texturally, the deep amber-colored whiskey is thick and almost chewy. The mellow, yet complex rye has a clean, spicy finish. The rye taste mixed with spiciness and sweet undertones are well balanced, a sign of careful aging." Included as well are a TR flask, four TR shot glasses, and a TR t-shirt.

Donated by Hon. Lynette Donner of Iowa. (Estimated Retail Value $100)

Item # 11- Miniature Cochiti Storyteller

Among the most charming developments of the Southwestern Indian artist is that of the storyteller figurine, an adaptation of centuries-old creations in figurine pottery. Cultural traditions and values have historically been passed on by tribal elders through songs and stories geared to teaching the young. Storytellers pass knowledge from generation to the next, and the next. It is in these delightful representations that the intense love of the Indians for their children is most clearly shown. Created from the same native clays as other pottery, storyteller figurines can range in height from approximately 2 inches to 10 inches. This is a miniature Cochiti storyteller with three babies.

Donated by Hon. Felicia Orth of New Mexico. (Estimated Retail Value $60)

Item # 12 - Fresh Fish from the Gulf Waters of the Florida Panhandle

Three Pounds of Grouper (or maybe something else, depending on the weather and the market). In the bend of Florida, where the peninsula running north from the keys curves west to create the Florida Panhandle, lies a Florida few know. This is Florida's Big Bend. It is not your palm tree, South Beach, tourist, and condo Florida. This is the real Florida - fertile, wild, and as rugged and violent a frontier as the West ever was. This is the Florida that gave birth to the feared Seminole Indians, the tribe that the United States Army never conquered.

The Gulf of Mexico and its many bays, like the Apalachee bay just west of Tallahassee, give life to vast numbers of marine life. Oysters, grouper, scallops, blue crabs, stone crabs, spotted trout, dolphin, hawksbill turtles, red fish, snapper, shrimp, sharks, rays, and more abound. The waters of the Big Bend are some of the richest estuarine breeding grounds in the world. This wealth of seafood coupled with the fertile soil, abundant drinking water, and moderate climate made the Apalachee Indians the wealthiest tribe of the South East.

Since European settlement, the brave and hardy have fished these waters, farmed these lands, and timbered the forests. Merchants and pirates sailed the Gulf waters, hiding and fighting in the countless bays and sloughs. This donation comes from these fecund, historic waters. It is seafood as fresh and delicious as food comes.

The winning bidder can either meet the donor at the St. Marks boat ramp at daybreak one October morning with rod and reel in hand, or provide a physical address and await a shipment of fresh frozen North Florida seafood. This is the more reliable option since it does not depend upon the donor's fishing skills!

Donated by Hon. John D.C. Newton II of Florida. (Estimated Retail Value $45)

Item # 18 - Two Zuni Animal Fetishes

The Zuni Pueblo Indians feel animals are endowed with unique spiritual powers, and that the fetish is the embodiment of these spirits. Created from various materials, Zuni fetish carvings are used in daily life for good luck, prosperity and health. The bear or medicine bear is one of the most popular and commonly made Zuni fetishes, representing strength, courage, power, good luck, healing and protection from evil. This lot includes two bear fetishes - 1 carved stone bear and 1 metal bear.

Donated by Hon. Felicia Orth of New Mexico. (Estimated Retail Value $35)

Item # 19 - A Classic New York Cheesecake from the Nuns of New Skete

In 1969, inspired by a vision of contemporary monastic life, a group of seven Poor Clare nuns from Indiana settled in Cambridge, New York (Washington County). With the monks' help they purchased a small farm house a few miles from the monks' monastery and built their own monastery across the road from the farm house. Thirteen years later, the nuns added a bakery to their modest home where, today, the sisters produce their gourmet cheesecakes, which have been featured by such personalities as Rachael Ray. The nuns make 12 different cheesecakes, this one being a delicately flavored creamy classic New York-style cheesecake in a lemon flavored cookie crumb crust combines everything your taste buds could desire. It is also pre-sliced. You are bidding on a gift certificate that includes shipping costs. (By the way, the New Skete monks are world famous for their dog training and breeding of German Shepherds.)

Donated by Hon. Peter S. Loomis of New York. Partial Shipping Donated by the Nuns of New Skete. (Estimated Retail Value $58)

Item # 20 - A Turquoise and Spiny Oyster Choker

This is a 20-inch long turquoise and spiny oyster choker with a carved flower at the bottom.

Donated by Hon. Felicia Orth of New Mexico. (Estimated Retail Value $50)

Item # 21- Miniature Acoma Pots and a Plate

Acoma Pueblo, southwest of Albuquerque, New Mexico, is built atop a sheer-walled, 367-foot sandstone bluff in a valley studded with sacred, towering monoliths. Since 1150 A.D., Acoma Pueblo has earned the reputation as the oldest continuously inhabited community in North America. The mesa-top settlement is known worldwide for its unique art and rich culture. This item is an assemblage of miniature Acoma pots and one miniature plate, hand-coiled and hand-painted: 1 with insect and turtle designs, 1 with turtle, trickster coyote and step design, 2 with geometric patterns, the plate has Kokopelli, symbol of fertility and agricultural abundance.

Donated by Hon. Felicia Orth of New Mexico. (Total Estimated Retail Value $150)

Item # 22 - New York City Rooftop Honey

Last year, New York City legalized beekeeping within city limits, which resulted in a boom in urban hives. This honey was harvested from a roof on 93rd Street off First Avenue, a few blocks from where the donor lives, by Andrew Cote, who is also Martha Stewart's go-to beekeeper.

Item # 40 - "Grade A" and "Grade Pending" refrigerator magnets

Last year New York City slavishly copied a program from Los Angeles in which restaurants receive a grade for their sanitary conditions. Restaurants are required to post these grades in their windows. In New York, if a restaurant gets something other than an A on its first inspection, it must post a "Grade Pending" sign. You can do the same with your refrigerator. And remember, there's no such thing as too many refrigerator magnets.

Donated by Hon. Christopher Stephens of New York. (Estimated Retail Value $8)

Item # 41 - The Lawyers Handbook Book Purse

This unique purse was created from the repurposed book "The Lawyer's Handbook" Second Edition. The paisley interior complements the blue hard cover of the book. Item # 49 - Fox's U-Bet Syrup and Wafels & Dinges Spekuloos Spread

This chocolate syrup is considered an essential ingredient for an egg cream, an old fashioned fountain drink that contains neither eggs nor cream. If you are going to indulge in this bit of nostalgia, no other chocolate syrup will do. Also excellent over ice cream. New York is experiencing a golden age of food trucks, and the donor's favorite is the Wafels & Dinges truck, which provides Belgian waffles along with a variety of toppings. The donor's favorite way to top one of their waffles is with spekuloos, a Belgian spread made from ground gingerbread-cinnamon cookies. Think nutella, but better!

Item # 50 - Administrative Law Book Purse

This one-of-a-kind purse was created from the repurposed book "Administrative Law and Regulatory Policy" by Justice Stephen Breyer and Professor Richard Stewart. The grey, red, cream and black floral interior creates a striking contrast to the red hard cover of the book. This purse measures approximately 6" by 9 1/2" with a 2 1/4" spine. The purse opens to 6 1/4" wide and has an inner pocket to hold your plastic.

Details:

*Measures 6" by 9 1/2" with a 2 1/4" reinforced spine. Opens to 6 1/4"

Item # 69 - A pair of iconic New York Coffee Cups

This item, from the Museum of Modern Art Store in New York City, is a lead-free earthenware ceramic version of the iconic "We are Happy to Serve You" 10 ounce paper coffee cup that is found in every Greek diner in New York City, as well as lots of other places. Before there were food trucks, there were coffee carts, providing New Yorkers with their jolts of java in these familiar paper cups. You can improve on this experience by filling this ceramic replica with a higher grade of coffee.

Microwave and dishwasher safe. Designed by Graham Hill in 2003.
